DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claim 3 is objected to because of the following informalities: Line 1 states “, this should be –according to claim 1--according to either claim 1”. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 14,21 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

These claims state “Rod according to claim 11”. Claim 11 is to a stabilizer. Claim 12 is to a rod. It is believed these claims should depend from claim 12 and not claim 11. These claims have been treated as if they depend from claim 12 and not claim 11.

Claims 15,16,27-29 and 31-34 all either depends directly or indirectly from claim 14. These claims also have been treated as if claim 14 depends from claim 12 and not claim 11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 3672

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6,12-19,22,27,28 and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Garrett 3754609.

Garrett discloses a stabilizer 26 designed to be slid onto a rod 150. At least one elastic part (see column 5, lines 56-64) is deformed when the stabilizer is held in an initial position in compression against a shoulder 150 of the stabilizer and rod. The elastic part compensates for play between the rod and stabilizer. As to claim 2, the play is in the longitudinal direction. As to claim 3, the elastic part cooperates with the shoulder to block the stabilizer in rotation with respect to the rod. As to claim 4, the elastic part is located at the end of the stabilizer and comes into contact with the shoulder. As to claim 5, other parts of the stabilizer are more rigid and non-deformable. As to claim 6, the elastic part is in the shape of a sleeve and is reversibly deformable. As to claim 12, rod 150 comprises a shoulder 152 that cooperates with the stabilizer. As to claim 13, the shoulder geometry matches the geometry of the elastic part. As to claims 14,22 and 32, means 25 along with threads 123 hold the stabilizer in compression. Means 25 cooperate with the thread means. As to claim 15, the threads are male threads. As to claim 16, means 25 is considered a housing. As to claims 17 and 27, shoulder 152 is rigid and non-deformable. As to claim 18, the rod 150 is in a drill string. As to claim 19, the drill string is a drill stem. As to claim 28, the rod is in a string of drilling rods.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 20,21 and 29-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Garrett (described above).

It would have been considered obvious to use the stabilizer in a logging while drilling tool or a measurement while drilling tool since stabilizers are commonly used in logging while drilling and measurement by drilling tools.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 7-11,23-26,33 and 34 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
